

COVID WRAP AROUND - THANK YOU!

Food Justice Network would like to share our gratitude for the many folks involved with making the COVID wrap-around services possible. Since April we've had an outpouring of support on all fronts to collectively aggregate and distribute food, medications, finances, hotel stays, and PPE/sanitation supplies to support people who test positive with COVID-19 (and their families) during the isolation/quarantine period. Our team would like to express our appreciation for Charlottesville's Trader Joe's location who recently made a donation to our shelf stable food supply. Thank you to our local Trader Joe's for the generosity and support!

Additional partners who have been critical to this work and have provided support with the implementation and operations of the program include the Blue Ridge Health District (formerly TJHD), Albemarle County Office of Equity and Inclusion, Albemarle Department of Social Services, the City of Charlottesville Department of Human Services, and the City of Charlottesville Department of Social Services. On that note, thank you to all of our many essential partners including the Salvation Army, UVA Health, Blue Ridge Area Food Bank, Frontline Foods, Harvest Moon Catering, UVA Equity Center, and Cville Community Cares! Lastly, stay tuned for COVID Wrap-around Program Evaluation that we've been working on in partnership with the UVA Equity Center.
